

How to book the Caledonian Sleeper train on RailNet

What is the Caledonian Sleeper

The Caledonian Sleeper is a night train operated by First ScotRail. It connects London Euston to various stations in Scotland – Fort William, Aberdeen and Inverness in the Highlands / Glasgow and Edinburgh in the Lowlands. The Caledonian sleeper departs late in the evening and ensures an early arrival the next morning. Travelers can book a 1 or 2 bed sleeper compartment and travel overnight, while saving a night's stay at the hotel.

When booking the Caledonian Sleeper on RailNet, two parts are required:

- A train ticket
- A reservation

Travelers will need both parts to successfully book their place on the Caledonian Sleeper. The procedure to book each part will vary depending on whether the traveler has a BritRail Pass or will be buying a BritRail Point to Point ticket for the Caledonian Sleeper. Use the appropriate guide to book the right tickets.
